International day of Happiness This week children have been learning about how, on March 20th every year, the world comes together to commemorate the United Nations Day of Happiness. This is a global movement towards a happier, more inclusive, and resilient world. We have reflected on what makes us happy, that we cannot be happy all the time and how we can help each other to be happier. The Action for Happiness website has further advice and support to help us all make our lives a little happier. <https://www.dayofhappiness.net/>

Preventing child sexual exploitation

Each year, thousands of young people are abused and groomed to have sex. Some are tricked into thinking they're in a 'normal', even loving relationship, then they are threatened and passed around to strangers. This needs to stop.

The Children's Society

We want to end child sexual exploitation and make sure childhood abuse doesn't define a young person's future.
